

Josette Sheria

Josette is a Partner in the Forensic Services Practice of PricewaterhouseCoopers in Gauteng, most notably being the first female partner in Forensics for PricewaterhouseCoopers in South Africa.

She has 17 years' experience in the fields of Forensics, Fraud Risk Consulting, Internal Audit and Governance in both public and private sectors.

Josette holds an NDip in Financial Information Systems, Certification in risk based auditing, Advanced diploma in auditing, Certification in Implementation of ERP's, CCSA and is a CIA.

She is a member of the ACFE, IIA (Institute of Internal Auditors) – CIA, and IRMSA (Institute of Risk Management South Africa) – Corporate Member

Josette is guest lecturer at the Universities of Johannesburg and Pretoria and has spoken at various conferences on various topics in the industry, including the 2015 ACFE Africa Conference.

Manifesto

Credible professions within various industries are governed by relevant professional bodies. In the case of forensic practitioners, it is the ACFE. As such the ACFE has an important role to play in respect of the standards applied during a forensic investigation and the ethics embodied by its members.

However, there is a need for transformation within the Board of the ACFE both from a gender and race perspective. In this regard, I believe that I can assist the ACFE in getting to the next level by making a positive contribution to a transformation agenda both within the ACFE and the industry as a whole.

I bring to the table a combination of passion for the profession, relevant skills and market expertise. Should I be elected, I am prepared to serve the board as appropriate in line with the skills and experience of the other board members.

August 2016